Certification of Responsibility

Businesses, educational, government agencies or any entity other than an individual licensed Radio Amateur who wish to purchase amateur radio equipment for legal purposes as described to us, may do so as long as the statement below is filled in, signed and dated by the responsible licensed Radio Amateur within that organization. The purchaser in this case is the entity that is actually paying for and takes title to the equipment.

P. C. Electronics has a strict policy of selling Amateur Radio equipment only to verified licensed Radio Amateurs and for legal uses in the USA per FCC Rules (47 CFR). None of our products are designed or intended for use other than in the Amateur Radio Service and are not FCC Compliant under any other service. Therefore, we are prevented under FCC Rule 47CFR 2.803 from marketing RF devices for any service or application that requires FCC Type Acceptance, Compliance, ID number or would be in violation of other FCC Rules.

The responsible licensed Radio Amateur should review parts 97.113, 97.111, 97.119 and 97.407 of the FCC Rules to insure the use of Amateur Radio frequencies do not violate Federal law. These Rules are downloadable from the bottom of our Application Notes web page.
